THE VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

It is my honour and privilege to welcome you to the Federal University Dutse.

The Student Handbook in the University is an important companion to every student. It introduces you to the University's history, policies, structures, authorities, rules and regulations governing student's life and conduct, and provides many other vital pieces of information that make your stay in the university comfortable.

Students of the Federal University Dutse are engaged in a process of growth and change. The extent and intensity of each student's involvement in academic work and other aspects of campus life determines to a large extent the level of individual success. The campus environment is formative for students and is instrumental in their effort to achieve academic success and personal fulfillment.

Students are, therefore, expected to be hardworking and always strive for excellence by taking advantage of the facilities and opportunities available in the University. Similarly, they are enjoined to buy into our core values and directive principles. This will help create a civilized atmosphere conducive to teaching, learning, research, and service. It will also equip our students when they graduate to be able to thrive in the world beyond the four corners of our university.

Students should note that they are ultimately responsible for their own lives and actions. It is therefore essential that they strive to maintain discipline and uphold the principles of tolerance in a plural environment such as ours. Students are enjoined to tackle their problems in a mature and decent manner. The University undertakes to help our dear students in realizing their legitimate objectives and will only restrain those who violate the rules or cross the bounds of decency.

We hope to nurture a sound relationship with our students and eventually our alumni for their mutual benefit and that of the University. I enjoin you to take advantage of your university years, make friends, and learn from one another—and more importantly, from your teachers.

When you eventually leave FUD as graduates, you shall go forth into the world as energized and empowered young men and women, who will face the challenges of life ahead confidently and squarely.

I wish you a pleasant stay at the Federal University Dutse.

Prof. Abdulkarim Sabo Mohammed

Vice-Chancellor

FOREWORD

It is a great honour and privilege for me to present another edition of the Handbook of the Federal University, Dutse. The Handbook has been revised, many errors of facts and forms have been corrected, and information has been greatly updated.

The Student Affairs Division of the Federal University Dutse seeks to promote and facilitate students' development outside the classroom as well as enhancing the quality of life for the students. The division responds to informational and personal concerns and oversees the protection of students' rights. The Division also plays a major role in promoting and upholding the shared values and ideals of the University Community.

Students are advised to keep themselves well informed by making enquiries at the Students Affairs Division, their Departments, their Associations, and by developing the habit of reading notices and write-ups on the Notice Boards and Billboards. Students should not rely on rumours and hearsay, but should try and confirm every piece of information from the appropriate quarters.

Furthermore, the contents of this publication should be supplemented with others such as the Calendar and the Prospectus. The constitution of the Students Union and other Clubs and Associations also contains some guidance for the students.

A variety of student services such as Advocacy, Student Counseling, Sports and Recreation, information about scholarships and study grants, student accident insurance, information for parents and families, absence notices, and other support services in collaboration with the student union and student clubs and associations are provided.

The Division provides assistance in times of personal or community crises. Such assistance includes offering Medical, Psychiatric, and Psychological Services, arranging for conflict resolution through mediation or adjudication, and facilitating the work of representatives of non-campus agencies.

On behalf of the Students Affairs' Division, I wish to extend our appreciation to the Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Abdulkarim Sabo Mohammed, all principal officers, staff of the Division, the Students Union, and clubs and associations for providing guidance and support to the Division.

Thank you.

Prof. Ahmad Mohammed Gumel

Dean of Students Affairs

CHAPTER ONE: ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

The Federal University Dutse (FUD) received its charter, along with eight newly established Federal Universities, from the Federal Government of Nigeria on February 9, 2011. The University's campus is located in the capital of Jigawa State, Dutse, an ancient town in North-western Nigeria.

The University's host town, Dutse, offers the charm of a small agricultural town, with easy access to major metropolitan areas such as Kano, Bauchi, Maiduguri, and Kaduna. The University recognizes the importance of its location in Dutse and seeks to link its research and teaching to the vast resources of these great metropolitan areas in the surrounding states.

FUD seeks to attract a diverse and international faculty and student body, to support research and teaching on global issues, and to create academic relationships with many universities and higher educational institutions in Nigeria and across the world. It expects all areas of the university to advance knowledge and learning at the highest level and to convey the products of its efforts to the community, the nation, and the world.

As a new Federal Government-owned institution, FUD offers a broad range of degree programs in the humanities, the Natural and the Social Sciences, Medicine, Management, Agriculture, and in years to come, courses in Environmental Studies, Law, Education, and Engineering. FUD's pioneer student body was 265 undergraduates. As a new university, it is committed to the best tradition of excellence. It aspires to be a teaching and research-intensive, technologically driven institution. FUD hopes to attract distinguished researchers (nationally and internationally), authors, scientists, scholars, and other fellows and members of professional associations and academies, who might help disseminate its vision of higher education, knowledge, and service.

Vision

Federal University Dutse shall excel in educating men and women for competence and character. We will realize this vision by combining teaching and scholarship of high quality with exemplary leadership at all levels. By doing this, we hope to earn national and international recognition and further attract human and material resources needed for sustained and unrelenting excellence.

Mission

Federal University Dutse exists to cultivate learning, develop knowledge, and foster free exchange of ideas. The University will focus on a strong tradition of distinguished scholarship, research, teaching, and service that is grounded in a commitment to increasing and disseminating scientific, humanistic, and social knowledge for the benefit of the larger society. In this, FUD will strive to be a major research university with extensive graduate programmes that are also dedicated to outstanding undergraduate and professional education.

The University's faculties and departments will be committed to the intellectual, cultural, and ethical development of students as citizens, scholars, and professionals. FUD graduates will be prepared to contribute to a global society that requires leaders with creativity, integrity, and a dedication to service. Finally, FUD is committed to ideas that would make it recognized around the world as one of the best institutions of higher education.

Philosophy

The philosophy of FUD is premised on the promotion of an environment in which all people are inspired to learn, the encouragement of intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, free inquiry, and respect for the views and values of an increasingly diverse population. As an academic institution, FUD's philosophy will also be based on active engagement with addressing the critical needs of the catchment area, nation, and global community, in close partnership with the host community, the Federal Government, the Catchment Area, State governments, and with the alumni, and in partnership with public, private, and non-profit institutions in Jigawa State and beyond.

Core Values

The core values on which FUD will conduct its affairs are the following:

1. Respect for the fundamental values of human dignity and the right to self-improvement.
2. A commitment to a robust educational environment in which all people are welcome and feel welcome—one that supports critical thinking, free inquiry, and respect for diverse views and values. As a community, FUD embraces diversity as an integral and vital part of everyday life and a cornerstone value of the University.
3. A commitment to enhancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Therefore, all or any acts of discrimination based upon race, colour, ethnicity, gender, class, age, disability, religion, ancestry, national origin, and other acts of intolerance are unacceptable at FUD.
4. The consideration that academic honesty and integrity lie at the heart of the educational enterprise of knowledge production, learning, and service.

Relevance

FUD's relevance as an academic institution consists in its guiding principles that strongly represent its commitments to the nation and its higher needs, namely:

1. FUD's first commitment is to be the flagship of higher education for Nigeria and the catchment area of the university, ensuring that every Nigerian has access to a top-quality education and applying our strengths to benefit the greater Jigawa community. The rising prominence of the Federal University Dutse will bring a new energy, opportunity, and recognition to the State of Jigawa, and the nation as a whole.
2. Foster a robust educational environment in which people are welcome and feel welcome—one that supports critical thinking, free inquiry, and respect for diverse views and values.
3. Create innovative partnerships for economic and community development, building knowledge and promoting ideas that serve the critical needs of the state, the nation, and the world.
4. Engage students, staff, and alumni in the most compelling social, cultural, artistic, and scientific challenges of our age—taking our place among the world's leading universities.

FUD's job is not done until our ideas, our expertise, and our students are given the opportunity to make a significant difference in the world. To succeed, we must ensure that the:

- University's innovation and accomplishments are publicly known across academia and the world.
- University attracts and supports students from the catchment area, the nation, and diverse backgrounds.

- University enhances curriculum flexibility, intellectual exploration, and discovery learning.
- University ensures a multidisciplinary immersion programme that combines coursework in key subjects engagement.
- University develops partnerships that include joint conferences, performances, research centres, and study programs.
- University overcomes the limitations in infrastructure and staffing shortages, obstacles to professional development, cross-cultural training, advising, and IT.

Objectives

Federal University Dutse aims at nurturing and producing well-balanced men and women, worthy in character and learning, who recognize and appreciate the dignity of work, and are able to see themselves as agents of change for development and for the common good. The University will concern itself with teaching, learning, and research for the attainment of excellence, particularly in its chosen areas of teaching and research to the end that it shall inculcate in its staff and students those higher values which are fundamental to ethical, socio-economic, scientific and technological development of the society. Five objectives that define the aspirations and the key initiatives that will propel FUD on the path of prominence are:

1. To contribute to the National effort in providing high-quality university education devoid of the usual interruptions.
2. To build an academic community in which the youths can develop their full potential under a tradition of excellence in all spheres of life.
3. To advance the frontiers of knowledge through research in the various fields of learning in which the university has expertise, especially Arts and the Sciences.
4. To grow and develop into a significant symbol of local and national aspirations, especially for the host community, and to give and support impeccable public service, and foster cooperation with private and public institutions.
5. To prepare and motivate students to fit into the world of knowledge, learning, work, and service.

University Colours

The University's colours consist of Green and Gold. Green signifies the university's new and hopeful beginnings, including its agrarian setting. Gold is the figurative expression of the university's climatic location in an arid zone, the Sahel, which is defined by the colour of sands and shifting dunes—an apt metaphor for the university's vision of an unending quest for academic excellence and selfless service, which are as valuable as Gold. Gold is also the colour of the distinctive soil of Jigawa State, after which the State was named at its creation in 1991. These colours also signify the endurance, courage, hope, and resilience of Sahel and Sudan savannah life forms.

Faculty Colours

The eight Faculties of the University will have the following colours:

- Faculty of Agriculture: GREEN
- Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences: VIOLET
- Faculty of Computing: COFFEE BROWN
- Faculty of Education: PURPLE
- Faculty of Engineering: BROWN
- Faculty of Law: BLACK
- Faculty of Management Sciences: BLUE
- Faculty of Medicine: RED
- Faculty of Science: YELLOW

The colours will be reflected in the hoods and tassels of the respective faculties which would be worn with the academic gown.

Motto

The Motto of FUD is: "Knowledge, Excellence, and Service". This is FUD's bold declaration that it will be a university built upon local and universal knowledge; knowledge that would be based on the best tradition of excellence which has guided the best intellectual heritage of humankind; and knowledge and excellence premised on public service, the noble aspiration for community, national, and universal betterment, without which neither knowledge nor excellence as such would grow and be relevant to human development. It is on these values that the University would produce a new breed of graduates that would be dedicated to knowledgeable pursuit, aspire to traditions of excellence in all respects, and accept selfless, disciplined, and dedicated public service as the highest good.

The Logo

The Logo of FUD consists of an igneous rock-cropping (the dominant and most abundant rock formation in Dutse, the capital of Jigawa State, and which defines geologic identity within the Sudan savannah), a leaping gazelle (an animal native to the land, which signifies agility and resilience), and a date-palm tree (the dominant and most abundant tree in Jigawa State, defining its vegetation and ecology), standing astride an open book setting atop the rock point, itself traversed by a pen (both items signifying the greatest repositories of human knowledge, both religious and secular—the open book of thought and life, and the pen a powerful symbol of human intellectual technology).

Both these symbols are set against the background of a circular sphere fringed with shades of green and beige borders (which denote the four elements of earthly life, namely earth, fire, water, and air), and all draped and framed by the primary colours of Green and Light Brown. The Logo is signed off with the motto of the University, "Knowledge, Excellence, and Service."

The FUD Flag

The University Flag consists of the colours Green, White, and Beige (shown in a tripartite colour structure) with the Logo emblazoned in the middle section of the Flag.

Mascot (Emblem for FUD Sports)

The FUD Mascot (an emblem of its sports identity, as is the tradition in great universities) is defined by a camel, draped in green and golden brown colours. This Mascot pays tribute to the people of the Sahel and Sudan Savannah, who have used the camel for centuries as a means of transport, including annual sporting events and other religious occasions such as the Sallah. As an emblematic character, the Camel is a swift means of movement in the desert and is also a carrier of the special hopes of the host communities of the University. The Camel is also a universal symbol of awe-inspiring endurance and a veritable icon of arid life and ecological uniqueness.

Location

The permanent site is located on the outskirts of Dutse Township along Ibrahim Aliyu Bye-Pass. It consists of 500 hectares of virgin land. The Senate and almost all the Faculties and departments are now operating at the permanent site.

CHAPTER TWO: LOCATION OF THE UNIVERSITY

The Federal University Dutse is located in Dutse, the capital of Jigawa State. Jigawa State itself was excised from Kano State on Tuesday, August 27, 1991. The State covers a total land area of about 22,410 sq km. It is bordered on the West by Kano State, on the East by Bauchi and Yobe States, and on the North by Katsina State and the Republic of Niger.

With an estimated population of 17,697 according to the census conducted by the National Population Commission (2006), Dutse is the fourth largest city in Jigawa State, coming behind Hadejia, Gumel, and Birnin Kudu. The undulating relief of the area is covered by Sudan savannah. Dutse became the capital of Jigawa State in 1991 when Jigawa State was split off from Kano State. Dutse is a serene town with the intrinsic charm of small provincial towns that are largely free from the noise, pollution, and squor of large metropolitan areas with expansive populations.

Rather, as we have seen, it has a modest population but is significant in that, although it is now undergoing its most sustained transformation into a modern capital city—thanks to massive government investment in infrastructure and the burgeoning Federal and State offices and establishments within the township—Dutse has still retained its profile as a virtual holiday resort, offering great potential for peace and quiet compared to Kano and Kaduna, for example.

There is also a rising presence of modern financial centres such as banks and insurance companies which are now taking advantage of the rising economic and social profile of the town. Real estate is a booming business, thanks to the influx of affluent, middle-class people looking for economic and business opportunities in the state capital.

Brief History

Nevertheless, Dutse is not just a new administrative town but an ancient city. Local legend based on oral tradition narrates its early story in the 13th century, when a great hunter called Duna-Magu, possibly of Kanuri origins, first named the settlement "Dutse Gadawur". The settlement was then a rich hunting ground for gazelle (Hausa: Gada) and other wild animals.

The settlement of Garu, which, according to oral tradition, started around the closing years of the first century A.D., was inhabited by a mixture of wandering tribes that occupied the rock clusters in search of food and shelter. They found the surrounding cluster of large boulders a safe hunting ground and at the same time ideal for settlement. Jigawa, a hunting tribe, first settled in the area and established their dynasties in the thirteenth century. They were followed by Fulani immigrants from Gazargamo, who settled in the area around Fagoji and who later conquered the Hausa rulers and established their rule over the town in 1806.

Some informants suggest that the history of Dutse predates the 13th century because of the town's proximity to Birnin Gija, a center of trans-Saharan commerce that was as old as Kano. Birnin Gija is situated in the northern valley of Dutse and is visible on clear days from the highest peaks of the surrounding rocks. The numerous ancient dye pits that dot the landscape are still visible in many parts of the town.

Some scientists suggest that Dutse rock formations provided shelter for Stone Age

Humans. They base their belief on the discovery of stone tools around Garu and rock paintings in Birnin Kudu. Whichever version of the story one believes, the earliest written reference to Dutse appeared in the famous Kano Chronicle, which mentioned its defeat by Sarkin Kano (Abdullahi Burja, c. 1438–1452) and his marriage to the daughter of Sarkin Dutse Tuwai Mai Asarki Babba (c. 1421–1463).

The link between the earliest references to Dutse and local oral tradition listed twenty-five other rulers of Dutse whose territorial acquisitions changed with individual war skills or historical factors. The general belief was that almost all those who ruled Dutse (1421–1553) were rulers of small settlements around Dutse and its immediate environs, who took turns to govern the district under a special treaty.

Some historians suggest that they were one family but scattered around the hills in smaller settlements such as Kachi, Takalafiya, Galamawa, Limawa, Gwari, Yina, Maremawa, Gizirawa, Maranjuwa, and Jugurgur, or sometimes around water sources, as their names suggest.

The earliest written reports indicated that by the opening years of the 18th century, Dutse had grown into a large town comprising about seventy Wards within its walled vicinity. The wall, which was built around the rock clusters enclosing the Jambo stream within the central area, had twelve gates (Hausa: Kofofin Gari) named after the wards of the town nearest to the gates.

Topography

Dutse enjoys vast, fertile arable land to which almost all tropical crops could adapt, thus constituting one of its highly prized natural resources. The Sudan Savannah vegetation zone is also made up of vast grazing lands suitable for livestock production. Major crops found in Dutse and other parts of the state include groundnuts, sorghum, cotton, cowpeas, millet, and rice grown in the river valleys. The herding of cattle, goats, and sheep is widespread. Jigawa State itself is crossed by the main Lagos-Nguru railway and by a vast road network that links it to Kano and Bauchi states.

The population of the state is a little over 4 million (according to the 2006 census). The main rivers are the Hadejia, Kafin Hausa, and Iggi, with a number of tributaries feeding extensive marshlands in the north-eastern parts of the state. The Hadejia-Kafin Hausa River traverses the state from west to east through the Hadejia-Nguru wetlands and eventually empties into the Lake Chad Basin.

Languages

There are four primary languages spoken in Dutse and Jigawa State as a whole: Hausa, Fulfulde, Bade, Kanuri, and Warji. Hausa is the pre-eminent language spoken as a native language by a large portion of Dutse inhabitants. The Hausa/Fulani people are found in Dutse and all parts of Jigawa State. The Kanuri ethnic group is largely found in Hadejia Emirate, with some traces of Badawa mainly in its north-eastern parts. Even though each of the three dominant tribes has continued to maintain its ethnic identity somewhat, Islam and a long history of intermarriage serve as binding social factors.

Economy

Jigawa State has been largely characterized by informal sector activities, with agriculture as the major economic activity. Over 80% of the population is engaged in subsistence farming and animal husbandry. Trade and commerce are undertaken on a small and medium scale, especially in agricultural goods, livestock, and other consumer goods. Other informal sector activities include blacksmithing, leatherwork, tailoring services, auto repairs, metalworks, carpentry, tanning, dyeing, food processing, and masonry.

Even though the modern industrial and manufacturing sector is still relatively under-developed, there are rising clusters of small-scale industries, particularly in areas of food processing and other agro-allied activities in the larger population centers. There are industrial enterprises in the state and these industries operate mostly with raw materials produced locally, mainly from agriculture and livestock.

Communication and Transport

The capital city, Dutse, is served by an excellent metropolitan road network traversing the township; there is an increasing presence of modern vehicular traffic such as trucks, mini-buses, light cars, and motorcycles in the town. Yet the traditional ox and cart still abound on the roads. The major GSM network providers maintain a steady presence in Dutse, and it is expected that the town will be served by rapidly expanding ICT facilities as it becomes more important administratively, economically, and financially.

Ethnic Composition

Dutse, the immediate community of the Federal University Dutse, is mainly populated by the Hausa/Fulani people. There are large concentrations of other settled ethnic groups, both from within and outside Nigeria, living in Dutse and other Local Government areas of the state.

Religion

Islam is the predominant religion of the people of Dutse and the state, with over ninety-nine percent of the population being Muslim. There is a minority Christian population, largely from settled and expatriate ethnic groups.

Culture

The rich cultural heritage of the people is symbolized by traditional modes of dressing, music, dance, craftsmanship, and architecture. Hausa culture and traditions are pre-eminent, although the Fulani, Mangawa, and Ngizimawa still maintain aspects of their distinct cultures and traditions in terms of dress, food processing, and settlement patterns within their indigenous areas.

Festivals

The central, canonical festivals in Dutse and throughout the state are the Muslim festivals of Eid-el-Fitr and Eid-el-Kabir (Sallah); these cut across ethnic barriers, being a period of celebration for all Muslims across the world. Eid-el-Fitr is celebrated on the 1st of Shawwal, the tenth month in the Islamic calendar, marking the end of the Ramadan fasting period, while Eid-el-Kabir is marked on the 10th of Dhul-Hijjah, the last month of the Islamic lunar calendar. These festivals are characterized by colorful parades of gaily-dressed horse riders, camels, and various traditional performances.

The 12th of Rabi'ul-Awwal, the 3rd month of the Islamic calendar, is marked as a day for Maulud, commemorating the birth of Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). The celebration is popularly tagged "Sallah Gani" in Hadejia and Gumel Emirates due to the fanfare associated with it. Other festivals include Kakawa (traditional wrestling) and Dambe (traditional boxing), mostly performed at the end of the harvest season. The Sharo (traditional flogging) is restricted to the Fulani community. Fishing festivals also periodically take place in many communities.

Arts and Crafts

This area continues to play a dominant role in the socio-economic well-being of the people by providing gainful employment and complementing the economic life of farming families. Some of the arts and crafts include weaving (raffia and cloth), pottery, blacksmithing, tanning, and leatherwork. Others include carving (of calabash and wood), traditional textiles, and architecture.

Tourist Attractions in Dutse and Beyond

The tourism sector remains largely unexplored despite its vast potential to make substantial contributions to economic and social development. Natural tourist attractions and potential sites for resort developments abound in Dutse and Jigawa State as a whole. Below are some of the most important ones:

- Baturiya Bird Sanctuary: Located in Kiri Kasamma Local Government area, it covers an area of 320 sq km with a half-kilometer buffer zone surrounding it. It provides a natural habitat for 378 species of migratory birds from places as far as Europe and Australia. This site has been visited by Prince Philip and Prince Charles, members of the worldwide Wildlife Conservation Fund.
- Wawan Rafi: Situated in Kazaure, this is a site for a holiday resort, golf course, and other recreational facilities.
- Range of Quartzite Rocks: Located at Amaryawa in Roni Local Government area, these rocks could be developed for mountaineering and as a picnic resort centre.
- Ruined Unknown Town: Located in Gwaram Local Government Area; stone walls and ancient houses still exist there.
- Location of the Emirs' Palaces: The Emirs' Palaces located at Dutse, Hadejia, Kazaure, Gumel, and Ringim offer a combination of indigenous and modern architecture.
- Captain Phillips' Tomb: Located at Hadejia. He led the battle between British soldiers and the people of Hadejia in 1906.
- Fulani-Sharo: An annual performance by the Fulbe community.
- Market Days: Market days like Gujungu, Maigatari, Hadejia, Furji, Kazaure, Gada, Babura, Sara, and Shuwarin host gatherings where thousands of people gather to buy and sell commodities.
- Rock Paintings: The rock paintings of Birnin Kudu and the magnificent rock formations of Dutse are sites of great historical and geological interest.

Objectives of the Library

- a) To provide materials in support of teaching and research within the learning process. This includes materials for student coursework, assigned reading, and background reading for essays, term papers, and projects.
- b) To provide materials to meet the requirements of faculty specialists, postgraduate students, and other researchers.
- c) To provide materials to assist library users in their personal self-development.
- d) To cooperate with other university libraries with a view to developing a network of academic library resources.
- e) To meet the specialized information needs of the community within which the University is situated.
- f) Guided by these objectives, the library will acquire materials at five levels: Remedial, Undergraduate, Postgraduate/Research, General Studies, and Light/Specialized information. These materials include books, journals, periodicals, and electronically stored information.

Administration of the Library

The University Librarian, who heads a team of qualified professional staff, administers the Library. There are seven operational divisions in the library:

1. The Collection Development Division: Charged with the responsibility of developing the total book collection of the library and its branches.
2. The Technical Services Division: Responsible for processing acquired books to enable readers to gain access to them on the shelves with minimum delay. This Division maintains a card catalogue indicating what the library holds and where items are located on the shelves.
3. The Readers Services Division: The public relations organ that registers readers and controls the use of Library materials. It ensures library rules and regulations are obeyed and assists readers optimally in their reference and bibliographic requests. It also provides closed access service at the reserve unit, manages charging and discharging of users, and collects fines when library books are overdue.
4. The Educational and Information Division: Manages core library instruction courses, library publications, and seminars, and helps provide general information about the library.
5. The Serials Division: Acquires scientific and other materials published regularly or semi-regularly. These materials discuss current issues and developments on given subjects. The acquisition, processing, and public services rendered by this Division are of immense benefit to students, academic staff, and researchers.

Collection Development

Apart from developing library stock to a reasonable level, for which an acquisition policy must be made, the library relates its procurement of materials to the total research and "Centre of Excellence" needs of the University.

Library operations are computerized using an integrated library automation system. The system allows for rapid access to the library's catalogue both from within the library and remotely via the internet. Its 'broadcast' search facility provides direct access and simultaneous searching of selected online catalogues of other libraries.

INTERNET SERVICES

Students are advised to patronize the university's internet services for the following purposes:

- As a reference tool, providing information not readily available in book format.
- As an expert system, giving access to specialists across thousands of fields.
- As an effective communication device to connect with colleagues and professional bodies.

- To utilize online library catalogues accessible globally.
- To download electronic journals and newsletters without requiring hard currency for subscriptions.
- Faculties across the University maintain computer rooms equipped with internet facilities.

CHAPTER FIVE: STUDENT AFFAIRS DIVISION

Introduction

The Student Affairs Division is in charge of all student services except academic matters. The Division operates under the Office of the Vice-Chancellor.

Administration

The Dean of Student Affairs, who is a senior member of the academic staff, heads the Division. He is appointed by the Vice-Chancellor and is directly responsible to him for the day-to-day running of the Division and the conduct of student affairs. The Dean is assisted by at least a Deputy. The Student Affairs Officer, a senior member of the administrative staff from the Registry, handles the secretarial work of the Division.

Office of the Dean

The Dean is the overall Chief Executive of the Division. It is his responsibility to coordinate all non-academic affairs of the students. He is responsible for student welfare and discipline. He is the accounting officer and controls the Division's votes and vehicles. He is responsible for accommodating students in the halls of residence. He represents the Division in all matters affecting students' welfare and discipline, and liaises with outside bodies on these matters.

He compiles and keeps records of vital statistical information on students (e.g., name, age, gender, year of registration, duration of course, contact address, next of kin, nationality, state, local government, marital status, and sponsorship). He presides over committees located within the Division and submits reports to the Vice-Chancellor.

Central Administration

The Student Affairs Officer (SAO) heads the central administration and coordinates the administrative work of the Division. Under the direction of the Dean, the SAO handles Student Union matters, coordinates orientation programmes, and handles matters relating to the NYSC and foreign students. The SAO identifies students for the issuance of passports, visas, and rebates, signs postal/money orders for students, and acts as the hospitality and protocol officer of the Division.

Career Guidance and Counseling

The Guidance and Human Resource Development Unit is headed by the Guidance and Counselling Officer, who reports to the Dean through the Student Affairs Officer. The Unit provides advice on employment matters, organizes career lectures and excursions, assists students in securing vacation jobs, and coordinates interviews with outside agencies for scholarships and job placements.

The Guidance Counselor identifies students for scholarships and bursaries, collects and distributes relevant forms, and prepares confidential tracking reports. The unit also provides counseling services to students dealing with health-related or personal problems.

Student Relation and Hall Administration

The Student Relation Officer manages this unit and reports to the Dean through the Student Affairs Officer. This officer liaises with the Works and Maintenance Department to manage hostel repairs, sanitation, and aesthetics. The unit enforces all rules governing hostel accommodation and manages records of available rooms, bed spaces, and occupant characteristics, while overseeing student activities such as meetings and publications.

Sports Council

The Chairman of the University Sports Council heads this unit, which is responsible for providing sporting facilities and equipment. It coordinates sporting competitions, intramural games, and external athletic events.

The members of the Sports Council include: The Vice-Chancellor or his nominee (Chairman); Head of the Department of Physical and Health Education; Director of University Health Services; Director of Works; Director of Sports (Student Union Government); Director of the Physical Planning Unit; two Senate representatives; one Congregation representative; and three students nominated by the Dean of Student Affairs (one of whom must be female). The Secretary is the University Chief Coach. Quorum is formed by the Chairman and one-third of the members.

Terms of reference include advising the Vice-Chancellor on athletic policy, acting as the governing body for student sports, preparing the sports budget, and arbitrating athletic disputes.

Student Welfare Unit

The Welfare Officer handles students' social activities and entertainment, alongside critical welfare matters such as bereavements, fire outbreaks, flooding, food poisoning, epidemic control, hostel water and electricity supplies, and resolving internal student disputes.

Hall Administration

The residential system consists of Halls and Hostel Blocks named after illustrious Nigerians. Each Hall has a Hall Master and a Warden. A Hall Office Committee, comprising hall officials and elected student representatives, manages localized social, athletic, and intellectual operations. Hall Masters and Wardens conduct daily visits to attend to student needs.

Private Hostel Development

The University liaises with relevant agencies to provide hostels. While initial phases aim for maximum coverage, long-term policy targets accommodating at least thirty percent (30%) of the student population on campus. Students allocated spaces pay accommodation fees and hostel maintenance charges. The University utilizes Build-Operate-Transfer partnerships with private developers, cooperative societies, and state governments to expand residential capacity using available university land.

Committees Located in the Division

To provide general guidance on the conduct of Student Affairs, three high-powered committees were established by the Senate:

1. Committee of Student Affairs
 2. Committee of Hall Masters and Hall Wardens
 3. Hall Committees
- The Student Affairs Committee: Advises on policies relating to non-academic student affairs. Membership includes the Vice-Chancellor or nominee (Chairman), Dean of Student Affairs, Hall Masters/Mistresses/Wardens, Registrar, Bursar, Director of Works, Chief Medical Officer, Chief Security Officer, two Council representatives, two Senate representatives, one ASUU representative, one Local Community representative, and two student representatives. The Student Affairs Officer serves as Secretary. Quorum requires the Chairman and eleven members.
 - Committee of Hall Masters and Hall Wardens: Recommends structural actions to the Vice-Chancellor regarding student welfare, hall discipline, and inter-hall sports. Membership includes the Vice-Chancellor or nominee (Chairman), Dean of Student Affairs, Hall Masters, Deputy Hall Masters, Hall Wardens, and Assistant Hall Wardens. Elected student Hall Chairmen attend but do not vote. Quorum requires the Chairman and eight members.
 - Hall Committees: Responsible for localized social, athletic, and intellectual activities intended to enrich life within individual halls. It consists of the Hall Master (Chairman), Assistant Hall Master, Warden, Assistant Warden, Hall Officer, and elected student representatives. It meets monthly and feeds recommendations to the central committee.

Core Activities of the Division

- Orientation of New Students: Organized at the start of the session to help fresh students adjust to University life. Activities include meeting the Vice-Chancellor and senior officers, alongside introductions to library and IT facilities. Fresh students must pay fees and register online before they can be allocated hostel spaces.
- Matriculation: Every new student must take the matriculation oath to be formally recognized as a member of the academic community. This ceremony marks the official closing of admissions for that session. Gowns must be worn, the Dean presents the students, and the Registrar administers the oath.
- National Youth Service Corps (NYSC) Mobilization: Established by Decree No. 24 of 1973, the scheme mandates that every Nigerian citizen who completes a first degree before the age of 30 must participate in a service year. Graduates are deployed to states other than their state of origin, with concessions made only for military/security personnel, those over 30, the chronically ill, or married women with established family responsibilities.
 - o Online Registration: Prospective corps members must register online for mobilization upon graduation, in coordination with the Student Affairs Division.
 - o Discipline: Corps members operate under a strict code of conduct and NYSC bye-laws, with performance evaluated quarterly by their assigned deployment heads.
